

Agile Mortgage Systems Names LendingForms.com as Mortgage Forms Content Provider

Agile Mortgage Systems Users have direct access to fillable pdf origination forms

Southfield, Mich. – July 2009 – LendingForms.com announced agreement with Wisconsin-based America's Mortgage Place, LLC to incorporate their standard inventory of mortgage origination forms into the Agile Mortgage System. Supporting a variety of processes including origination and closing for both Conventional and Government Loan Programs, LendingForms.com provides loan originators a reliable source to obtain their compliant mortgage forms, as well as the additional benefit of using the widely accepted industry standard Adobe .PDF file format for their forms output.

“Delivering an origination library of forms in the widely accepted .pdf format will benefit mortgage originators as they adopt the Agile System,” says Mike Berger, President and CEO of LendingForms.com, “Mortgage lenders have expressed interest in not only more cost effective document provider, but also forms created in a more widely accepted technology.”

“America's Mortgage Place, LLC just launched Agile Mortgage Systems in the fourth quarter of last year. We chose LendingForms.com because they offer a comprehensive inventory of forms in an easy to use solution at a competitive price.” commented said Bob Ross, CEO, of America's Mortgage Place, LLC.

For those users who might require alternative file formats such as .PCL or .RTF, LendingForms.com has the additional capability to create or convert their library into such formats. As part of their standard offering, LendingForms.com ensures that its documents remain compliant with federal, state and local requirements, and provides timely updates of those documents to their clients. In addition to the standard library of electronic forms, Agile users will have access to a full complement of other services including custom forms creation and design services, forms library management services, as well as document translation services in multiple languages. Clients will also have access to pre-printed consumer information handbooks and HUD Case Binders at a significant cost savings as compared to other suppliers.

About LendingForms.com

LendingForms.com, a leading provider of printed and electronic forms to hundreds of customers, offers mortgage lenders high quality forms and services. With one of the most cost effective standard libraries of forms in the industry, LendingForms.com offers custom forms design and revision services, forms library management, and document translation services. For more information, visit www.lendingforms.com.

About America's Mortgage Place, LLC

America's Mortgage Place LLC, powered by Agile Mortgage Systems, provides low cost, high quality technology and fulfillment outsource services for lenders that demand an immediate positive return on investment. Our services allow lenders to outsource most all of their mortgage technology or fulfillment needs on a per unit basis at a very attractive variable cost. For more information visit www.ampmtg.com